

Guide To Injury Compensation In Victoria

C Set Expectations

Provide a timeline for recovery and return to work

Provide a date from for when you expect your patient should be able to return to work to some capacity. Research indicates that patients return to work sooner after injury if their healthcare provider address them of a date to return to work.

D Certify Capacity

Based on what your patient can do

Your role is to assess and certify your patient's capacity

It's the employer and case manager's role to identify suitable duties. The information you provide in the capacity assessment section will assist to identify suitable options.

Treatment Plan

This is the best opportunity to communicate to everyone your current and proposed treatment plan. This should include strategies to maximise recovery, increase capacity for work, address any return to work barriers and prevent recurrence of injury.

Certifier Declaration

This is legal confirmation that you have clinically examined your patient and that the medical opinions that you have provided on the certificate are, to the best of your knowledge, true and correct. This section must be completed and signed.

Worker Declaration

It is your patient's responsibility to sign the worker declaration, and provide it to their employer (VWA claim) or claims manager (MC claim). Please provide a copy of the completed certificate to your patient and save your copy in the patient file.

NOTE: you are not required to be a witness to the patient's signature.

E Review

Your patient's progress against the treatment plan

4. Certification Public Certificate Issuance for a non-registered health professional (VWA claim) when a worker returns to work or an MC claim for a subsequent certificate. It is used for all but certificates issued for medical practitioners - see page 1 for a subsequent certificate.
