JOANNE BURNS

Joanne Burns was born in Sydney in 1945 and has had a wide range of experience reading her work in Art Galleries, Schools, Colleges and on Radio. Her publications include Adrenalin Flickknife and Ventriloquy. She has taught Creative Writing at Tertiary Institutions and Schools and was a member of the Poets in Schools Project 1982-84.

Earlier this year she held a residency as Writer in Community in Sydney's South West. Her theatrical monologues collectively titled Karma Pyjama were recently performed by a newly established Women Writers' Guild.

MANNERS

they had such suitable faces; faces that could sell the best life insurance, the greatest skin rejuvenation cream; the best religions, the best bank loans; the best luxury units, the best burial deals; they had faces that could present axe murder updates and gardening hints in the same exhalations; the next nuclear explosion and the football results with the same intonations; faces that could announce truths or lies sincerely for the highest fee; smooth faces that could force their public to laugh loudly out of hate, to improve the ratings. and throughout it all they all had the same bright blue eyes; the same symmetrical smiles; and their never out of place hair never stopped shining.

UNTITLED

she had more friends
than you could fit
into the back of a truck

that's why she didn't mind
leaving them parked
on a cliff edge

while she went
for a stroll
with the brake in her pocket
